

Join us on World Milk Day!

On-line Seminar
Ethical Camel Dairying –

Why camels should not go the way of the cow!

June 1st, 2024, at 1:00 PM CEST, 2 PM EAT and 4:30 PM IST.

Register here: <https://us02web.zoom.us/meeting/register/tZIkdu-upj0iGtGq22F3S6zMhEI2hQO12b8Y>

Jacob Wanyama -
Moderator

---

Welcome and Introduction
Juliane Bräunig

An overview of the global camel dairy sector and trends
Ilse Köhler-Rollefson

Keeping dairy camels happy in Mongolia:
Khandaa Byamba – translated by Ariell Ahearn

Experiences of social enterprise Camel Charisma in India
Hanwant Singh Rathore

Impressions from camel dairying systems in Oman and Ethiopia
Abdul Raziq Kakar

Mobile Camel Dairying in Kenya
Piers Simpkin and Tumul Orto

Conclusions

Discussion

For additional information, reach out to:
info@pastoralpeoples.org.

LEAGUE FOR PASTORAL PEOPLES AND ENDOGENOUS
LIVESTOCK
DEVELOPMENT

As we delve into the world of ethical camel dairying, it is essential to highlight the importance of preserving the unique practices and values associated with camels. Camels have been an integral part of various pastoralist cultures for centuries, providing not only milk but also serving as symbols of endurance, resilience, adaptability, and even love.

Camel dairying offers a sustainable alternative to industrial dairy farming practices, as camels are well-suited to arid environments and require less water and resources compared to cows. By supporting ethical camel dairying, we can not only protect the livelihoods of communities that rely on these majestic animals but also promote a more environmentally friendly approach to dairy production.

Let us champion the cause of ethical camel dairying and ensure that camels do not go the way of the cow. By embracing this approach, we can celebrate the cultural heritage and ecological benefits that camels bring to our world.